What do these changes mean for the High Growth investment option?

The asset allocation ranges for international equities and infrastructure have been updated, however there has not been any change to the risk classifications or the target rate of return for the High Growth investment option.

What do these changes mean for the Socially Responsible investment option?

There have been changes to the infrastructure asset allocation range for the Socially Responsible investment option, as well as the introduction of the credit asset class. However, there has not been any changes to the risk classifications or the target rate of return for the Socially Responsible investment option.

What do these changes mean for the Capital Defensive investment option?

The risk classification of the Capital Defensive investment option has decreased from medium to low. There is no change to the target rate of return or asset class ranges for the Capital Defensive investment option.

What will this mean for fees?

The cost of investment management is incorporated in the investment fees and costs, which are deducted from investment returns before unit prices are applied to individual account balances.

Investment fees and costs vary across investment options due to a number of factors. These include asset allocations, growth in funds under management, changes to investment manager line-ups, changes to fee schedules, performance fees and transactional and operational costs being different to expectations.

Further information regarding fees is outlined in the Triple S Product Disclosure Statement and Reference Guide. Information regarding investments is outlined in the Triple S Investment Guide available at supersa.sa.gov.au.
